Attendance

This term, we have seen attendance and attitudes to coming to school really improve. Each week, we announce the overall class attendance percentages in assembly where classes gain 'minutes' to use on special chosen activities. These have been sessions such as extra playtime, discos, party games and class movies!

To keep reaching higher, and to promote attendance even more, next half term we will have a range of prizes from local businesses which can be won!

These include:

£30 from Premier shop (Eggborough)

£30 from Londis shop (Eggborough)

2x Sunday lunches at The Horse and Jockey pub (Eggborough)

A voucher from Pure Beauty (Pontefract)

A month's free gym membership at Fitness Base (Pontefract)

A voucher for a meal deal from Crumbs (Eggborough)

A voucher from Gilmer's Butchers (Eggborough)

A voucher for Vogue Beauty

To be in with a chance to win, children will be entered into a draw for every full day they come to school where they are also ON TIME. The raffle for the prizes will be drawn on the final Friday of the year.

Scarborough Trip

What an amazing, fun filled, sandy trip we had in Scarborough. Class 2 walked along the seafront spotting geographical features whilst Class 1 children explored the RNLI Lifeboat centre linked to their 'People Who Help Us' learning.

The children later blew us away with their teamwork in our sandcastle building competition where they demonstrated their construction skills with tunnels, moats, walls and even flags. Both classes enjoyed their delicious seaside themed picnic on the beach with some extra friends who decided to join us (seagulls). One seagull found Miss Rand's sandwich particularly intriguing when it swooped down to steal the lettuce. The lettuce must have been very tasty as they came back for pudding in the form of ice cream that Mrs Houlden was holding for the children. A fantastic day was had by everyone!

Bikeability

Wow - what amazing children we have at Kellington. Some of our Year 5 and 6 children took part in this year's Bikeability sessions and were simply stunning. Their impeccable behaviour, listening and improvement of skills during the two days was wonderful and they completely outdid themselves. The instructors said that the children were the best group they'd ever had!

Well done to each and every one of you. We are so very proud!

Year 6 forest school - Wednesday 6th June

The first Wednesday back is our Y6 Forest school session. Please wear clothes which you are happy to get dirty and that will also be suitable for all weathers. Sturdy footwear is a must regardless of the weather. Please check the weather forecast - we never know at this time of year if we will see heavy rain or have a hot sunny day.

School office

Last week, we said a 'see you soon' to Mrs Hurd who has started her maternity leave. We can't wait to meet her new addition.

We are very lucky to have Mrs Silburn join the team who will be leading in the office. The office is open on mornings only (between 8.30am and 1pm). Where possible, please can calls, emails and visits to the office be made during these hours. Thank you

Anti-Social Behaviour in our local area

We have been made aware by the police of increasing and recent incidents of anti-social behaviour in our village and the surrounding villages. The police have asked that these are reported by residents as soon as these happen so support can be put in place to help residents feel safer and to reduce the frequency of these events.

If you notice any behaviours which are concerning or indeed anti-social, please report these to the police.

Contact numbers are:

North Yorkshire Council: 0300 131 2131

North Yorkshire Police: 101 or 999 in an emergency. Or online reporting: Report | North Yorkshire Police

Safeguarding

As part of our continued collective responsibility to safeguard our young people, the STARMAT have created a monthly newsletter for all parents of primary aged pupils across the trust. This will be shared with you to raise awareness of safeguarding topics and offer strategies to support our children in this ever-changing world.

As technology advances, there are further dangers that many people may be unaware of currently. This month's newsletter features the key topics of online safety with a focus on sextortion, gaming risks and a deeper awareness of certain gaming APPs.

If you have any questions regarding these topics, please speak to a member of the safeguarding team.

SPOTLIGHT ON SAFEGUARDING

Working together to keep our young people safe

In this month's issue:

- Sextortion
- Gaming
- App focus: Playstation and Xbox

Primary | May 2024

Sextortion – what is it?

Sextortion is a type of blackmail in which the offender threatens to disclose sexual content, such as information, photos or videos of the victim, with the intention of extorting money from them. Another phrase used to describe sextortion is 'online sexual coercion and extortion'

How are children sextorted?

Individuals pretending to be children of the same age as the victim build a relationship with the young person over hours, days or even weeks. Once trust is established, the perpetrator begins to ask the young person for intimate images and videos. The victim sends the requested content, unaware that they are communicating with a criminal.

Self-generated Child Sexual Abuse Material (CSAM) refers to instances where a child produces images or videos of themselves, or agrees to someone else creating such content, such as through video calls. It's crucial to understand that in these situations, the child is coerced, manipulated or pressured into participating, making them a victim.

What are deepfakes?

With the capability to generate highly advanced AI images, children face increased vulnerability as criminals exploit fake images to extort them.

Deepfakes refer to AI-generated images where one person's face is substituted with another.

These creations can be incredibly realistic, making it challenging to distinguish between what is genuine and what is fabricated. The worrying part about AI-generated images is that the victim might never have shared any images with the perpetrator. However, due to fear and persuasion, they may agree to pay money to prevent the release of these fabricated images to friends and family.

Gaming

Gaming encompasses playing games on various devices such as Xbox, smartphones, laptops, or computers. It is often a social activity where friends compete or play together. However, negative behaviours and consequences can arise from gaming. Some concerns include:

- excessive gaming leading to addiction
- playing games with inappropriate content
- sharing personal information
- interacting with unknown individuals, including adults posing risks
- cyberbullying
- in-app purchases leading to gambling
- displaying verbal or physical aggression
- poor eating habits
- sleep disturbances

These issues can impact children's mental health and relationships. It is crucial to monitor gaming to prevent excessive use, safeguard children's accounts and devices, and ensure games are suitable for their age and development.

PlayStation Network App

The PlayStation app enables users to remain connected even when they're not actively gaming. Users can share photos, videos and other content, as well as engage with online gaming communities. However, there is a potential risk of interacting with unfamiliar adults and encountering inappropriate content. Each child account includes parental control features. For detailed instructions on using these settings, visit the PlayStation website. Click here

Xbox App

The Xbox app allows users to connect with one another, continue gaming and join 'Parties'. Parties are when groups of players play alongside one another. There are risks associated with them, as anyone can join, leaving young people vulnerable to having contact with unknown adults. All child accounts have safety features which allows parents to implement privacy settings as well as set time limits. Click Here

Online Safety

To continue to promote online safety and the range of devices which are now available to children, please find attached a quick guide to supporting parental controls to be enabled.

We hope you find this helpful!

Top Tips for SETTING UP PARENTAL CONTROLS ON NEW DEVICES

In children's eagerness to start enjoying new digital gadgets immediately, it can be easy to overlook setting up the type of parental controls that can help to protect them online. If you don't sort those out from the very start, it can be an uphill battle – technologically and psychologically – to impose such controls later. Here's our rundown of what to look for when setting up the various internet-enabled devices that might be lurking under the tree at this time of year.

IPHONE

If your child's lucky enough to be getting their own iPhone, parental controls can help avoid issues like screen addiction and unsuitable content. Go into the settings and scroll down to 'Screen Time'. From here you can customise important settings including time limits on using the device, communication restrictions and content blockers. You can also lock your changes behind a passcode.

ANDROID

With Android devices, Google's Family Link app is your friend. You'll need a Google account – and a separate one for your child, which you should use when first setting up the device. Then, in Family Link on your own device, select 'Add child' and enter their account details. This lets you specify limits on daily usage, restrict certain apps, block particular content and more.

PLAYSTATION

You can prep for a PlayStation before it's even unboxed. At my account, every coin, create an account, then go to Account Management > Family Management > Add Family Member to set up your child's account, which you'll use to sign in on the console. You can restrict the age ratings of the games they can play and who they can talk to. On the PS5, you can make exceptions for any games you think are acceptable despite their high age rating.

IPAD

iPad parental controls are identical to those on iPhones, however, if you've got a shared family iPad and want to ensure your children aren't seeing anything age-inappropriate after you hand them the device, there's a feature called Guided Access (under Settings > Accessibility > Guided Access). With this switched on, young ones can only use the app that's currently open.

XBOX

The Xbox Family Settings app helps you manage which games your child can play (and when). You'll need to set up the console with your own account and then add a child profile. Make sure your account's password protected, so your child can't enter your choices later. You'll be walked through the functions at setup, but you can also reach them manually via Settings > Account > Family Settings.

NINTENDO SWITCH

Download the Nintendo Switch Parental Controls app on your phone, and you'll be shown how to link it to the console. Once that's done, you can limit how long your child can play each day, decide what age ratings are permitted and more. You'll also get weekly updates on how often they've used the device. These controls are accessible through the console itself, but the app is usually easier.

WINDOWS 11 PCS

On Windows 11, account management is key. Set up the device with your own account as the admin. Then go to Settings > Accounts > Family and Other Users and create your child's account (if you've already done this on a previous PC, just log in with those details). Microsoft Family Safety (either the app or the site) then lets you control screen time, what content children can view and more.

CHROMEBOOKS

Chromebooks' parental controls are managed via the Family Link app. Unlike an Android device, however, you need set up the Chromebook with your own account first, then add your child's. Go to Settings > People > Add Person and input your child's Google account details (or create a new account). Your child can then log in and you can monitor what they're up to via Family Link.

MACS

Like iPhones, parental controls for Macs are managed via the Screen Time settings. Again, the crux here is to set yourself up as the administrator before adding any child accounts. In the settings, look for Users & Groups to create your child's account, then – while on their profile – use the screen time options to place any boundaries around apps, usage and who your child can communicate with (and vice versa).

SMART TVS

Smart TVs typically have their own individual parental controls. One of the most popular brands is Samsung – and on their TVs, you can control the content available to your child in the settings menu, under 'Broadcasting'; you can lock channels and restrict content by its age rating. Even this isn't foolproof, however, some apps (like YouTube) might still let children access unsuitable material.
